

Avoid Having Your Budget Victimized

Nine out of ten budgets become victimized by change. We provide three unique capabilities to ensure you not only handle internal and global business changes, but gain greater budget control over successful outcomes.

History is about people and process integrated together - use that!

Statistics from Specifics

Businesses do a poor job of integrating people and process as history that translates into useful financial statistics. Learn an approach to collect and use the history of people and process to reliably forecast budgets. Only when you have all the specifics will your statistics help you make better decisions.

Before you spend it - test it, find weak points & strengthen them!

Test It First

It's your employees that spend and earn money for your company. In 15 minutes, you can have an accurate analysis of whether your budget, based on your employees' perspective, has significant issues. This rapid analysis identifies these weaknesses and pinpoints specific ways to reliability strengthen these areas.

Before releasing a budget, make sure they're accountable for it.

Use Your Dashboard

Why release a budget if you don't have visibility into whether the employees spending the money are taking accountability for it? Tracking the amount spent is an after-the-fact approach. It's already gone. We offer a simple approach that allows you to proactively know and address issues before money is wasted.
